DETAILED ACTION

- 1. The Examiner has carefully considered Applicant's amendment and accompanying remarks filed October 7, 2003.
- 2. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Election/Restrictions

3. Applicant's election of Species I is acknowledged. Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

- 4. Claims 1-5, 9-13, 17-21, and 25-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sicard (US 3,674,154). Sicard discloses a filtration apparatus. The filtering member comprises a woven wire mesh (i.e. a metal mesh) wherein the layers are bonded together by brazing or sintering or welding (col 1, ln 55-65). With regard to claims 25-28, it should be noted that a screen inherently has a first plurality of filaments extending in a first direction and a second plurality of filaments extending in a second direction. Furthermore, because Sicard discloses a second mesh layer (col 1, 60-63) or an "outer layer," the Examiner is equating the outer perforated metal layer to the first and second reinforcing structure of the present invention. Rejection is maintained.
- 5. Claims 1-5, 9-13, and 17-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Koehler (US 4,613,369). Koehler discloses porous metal articles find particular use as filters

10 to 25

(abstract). The filter comprises woven wire mesh (col 2, ln 21-23). The mesh is preferably a metal wire mesh screen (col 2, ln 38-40). The porous articles may be joined and formed into various shapes by brazing and melding (col 9, ln 35-39). Rejection is maintained.

6. Claims 1-5, 9-13, and 17-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Webb et al. (US 5,373,615). Webb et al. disclose a filtration screen wherein the screen is made with filaments that have been coated with brass and have been woven into a mesh to form the screen (abstract). The wire filaments are made of carbon steel wires (col 2, ln 25-26). With regard to claims 2, 3, 10, 11, 18, and 19, it should be noted that the method of forming the device is not germane to the issue of patentability of the device itself. Therefore, this limitation has not been given patentable weight. Rejection is maintained.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments filed October 7, 2003, have been fully considered but they are not persuasive for the reasons set forth. Applicant argues that none of the references, i.e. Sicard, Koehler, nor Webb et al., disclose reinforcing elements in the cross-machine or machine direction. These arguments are not persuasive because by definition, according to Fairchild's Dictionary of Textiles, a mesh is "any fabric which is characterized by open spaces between the yarns." Furthermore, a scrim is also known as a mesh, and a scrim is defined as a "fabric made of two sets of yarns laid on top of one another." Therefore, all the references disclose reinforcing elements, i.e. wire, filaments, fibers, in the cross-machine or machine direction.

Conclusion

8. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
